

GOOD TEACHING comes from THE INSIDE

A Resource for Assessing & Evaluating Teaching

This is a resource for teachers and school leaders who want and need freedom and responsibility to learn effective, exemplary ways of teaching. Good teaching grows from within when teachers are given responsibility for evaluating their own work, and principals, teachers and students work together in ways that result in the school becoming a learning community. Good schools are those in which learning arises from and feeds back into teaching, and where learning more about teaching is considered to be a natural part of teaching.
